

Valentine's Event: Ococoa Review

Countdown: 8 days until Vday

What reminds you of Valentine's Day? Flowers, cards, chocolates, your love? No matter what your prime emotion is for the special occasion new memories are possible each time you adventure to new territories. How about I take you on a Valentine's Adventure to decadent buttercup assortments, just saying it makes me salivate. Want something rich that will tingle your taste buds but also be inciting to the eye? I'm a pretty package kind of gal. I like my presents to be presenting... and the products to be pleasing to my sense of sight, smell, and taste. Haha. Ok I don't require sense of taste when I review clothing. I appreciate a company that backs up their quality products with respectable packaging and presentation. Let me introduce you to a company that does all this and more. You will receive your chocolates VIP style including details on their scrumptious Buttercup Collection. Each piece embraces their signature taste before you bite into it. Next-my favorite part- I tasted one. Ok I tasted them all, in one night. The dark chocolate, 61% cocoa, is rich and flavorful. Never cheap tasting. The shell of the decadent piece is held by the dark chocolate and when you break into it you are sure to find a heavenly taste. An interesting combination and celebration to your senses these are surely a classy take on eating chocolates. It's easy to go to CVS and grab a mysterious box of Russell Stovers that will leave you feeling guilty for a). being cheap and b). not enjoying the true taste and simplicity of a fabulous chocolate experience. Ok Ok I love a bargain but if you want to impress your taste buds you better go with 7061% or more cocoa and maybe more than $7.99 for a box of 50 pieces.

<http://thefabulouswon.blogspot.com/>

Shop: Ococoa

9 piece 5.5 oz box for $22.00

16 piece 9.5 oz box for $36.00

This collection features each of our delectable nut butter cups: Classic Peanut Butter, Pistachio Date, Sesame Fig, Hazelnut Chocolate, Almond Cherry, Cashew Apricot, Marzipan Truffle, Macadamia Guava, and Sunflower Honey.

Meet the Maker:

Ococoa was created as a way to showcase a few of the best qualities of my Middle Eastern heritage, which I deeply respect. From our rich culture of traditions, hospitality, food, and friendship, you are warmly invited to share in my passion and enjoy our fine confections.

Diana's love and attention to creating new versions of sweet decadent rich chocolates is hard to ignore. Her beauty and hard work goes into each creation she delivers. That is something I, as a consumer, can appreciate and respect. I feel passionate about helping each other in business and each customer is treated with the highest importance and deliverance. This company, Ococoa, is FabApproved!

<http://thefabulouswon.blogspot.com/>

Disclosure: I received a box of Butter Cup's by Ococoa to review. I have not paid or persuaded to write this post. My opinions are honest.

Beth

Posted by Beth at 9:07 AM